Evaluation of the Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Period

In the second quarter of 2026, rising geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and the associated uncertainties regarding energy supply were decisive for the global economic outlook. Developments in the Strait of Hormuz created downside risks to the global growth outlook while increasing inflationary pressures, especially in energy-importing countries. In its July 2026 World Economic Outlook Report, the International Monetary Fund revised its global economic growth forecast for 2026 down from 3.1% to 3.0%, while raising its 2027 forecast from 3.2% to 3.4%.

The U.S. economy recorded annualized growth of 2.1% in the first quarter of 2026. As of June, annual consumer inflation stood at 3.5%, while core inflation was 2.6%. At its meetings in the first half of the year, the U.S. Federal Reserve made no change to the policy rate and kept the federal funds rate range unchanged at 3.50%-3.75%.

The Euro Area, among the economies most affected by the rise in energy prices, maintained a weak growth outlook in the first quarter of 2026. Inflation increased to 3.2% in May, while according to preliminary data for June, it stood at 2.8%. The European Central Bank left interest rates unchanged at its March meeting, while at its June meeting it raised the deposit rate by 25 basis points from 2.00% to 2.25%, taking a step toward tightening again after about three years. The Bank also increased the main refinancing operations rate to 2.40% and the marginal lending rate to 2.65%.

The Turkish economy, in the second quarter of 2026, exhibited an outlook in which the disinflation process gradually strengthened and the effects of tight monetary policy on domestic demand were felt more clearly. Despite the balancing in domestic demand, exports, tourism revenues, and industrial production continued to support economic activity. While annual inflation continued its downward trend with the contribution of the base effect and the balancing in demand, it remained above target levels due to stickiness in services inflation and increases in energy prices. Monthly inflation, which stood at 4.18% in April, was announced at 1.71% in May and 0.99% in June. Annual inflation declined to 32.11% as of the end of June. The Central Bank of the Republic of Türkiye (CBRT) maintained the policy rate within the framework of tight monetary policy in order to make price stability permanent. The CBRT, which left the policy rate unchanged at 37% in June, continued to keep the weighted average funding cost at around through upper-band funding, which it has been applying since March.

Takasbank effectively continued to provide its services to Türkiye's money and capital markets in the first six months of 2026 and carried out efficient risk and collateral management in the markets where it operates as a central counterparty, in alignment with international best practices.

Our projects and initiatives aimed at developing and diversifying the services offered to the markets—particularly central counterparty services are carried out in line with sector demands and the specific needs of our country. During this period, efforts to strengthen our technological infrastructure continued in order to manage IT-related operational risks and to ensure that Takasbank services are delivered in a fast, effective, and uninterrupted manner.

With the project launched as of 5 January 2026, it has been made possible for the letter and surety bond relating to the additional performance guarantee, advance payment guarantee, final account guarantee, and temporary acceptance deficiencies guarantee to be transmitted through our Bank for tenders conducted under the Public Procurement Law during the contract process, thereby further expanding the scope of the Public Guarantee Management Platform.

Evaluation of the Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Period (Continued)

Our projects and initiatives aimed at enhancing and diversifying the services offered to the markets, primarily central counterparty services, have been carried out in line with sector demands and considering the needs of our country. Efforts to strengthen our technological infrastructure to manage information technology-related operational risks and to ensure the continued delivery of Takasbank's services in a timely, efficient, and uninterrupted manner have also been sustained during this period.

With its strategic perspective and effective management policies, our Bank achieved a pre-tax profit of TRY11,5 billion as of 30 June 2026, while its total assets reached TRY456,9 billion and its equity increased to TRY23,7 billion. Thanks to our preparedness against risks and our technical competence, business continuity will be maintained in the upcoming period, and new products and services will continue to be developed in harmony with our Group companies.

On behalf of myself and our Board of Directors, I would like to extend my sincere thanks to all our stakeholders, especially our employees and managers, who have contributed to the successful performance of our Bank.

Best regards,

Dr. Mahmut KAYACIK
Chairman of the Board of Directors
