Account Types

ARTICLE 21A- (1) The position and collateral accounts associated with the trading accounts can be opened at Takasbank in two different types: the “Client” and the “Portfolio”. The portfolio account is the account in which the transactions conducted by the member for its own portfolio are monitored. Monitoring client positions in the multiple position accounts in a collective manner is essential.

(2) Customer and/or portfolio segregation shall be made for the collateral accounts opened for the marketplaces/platforms and/or precious metals/contracts to which the CCP service is not provided pursuant to the consent of the Board.

(3) The members shall monitor the positions and collateral of their own portfolio and the customer positions and collateral in a separate manner in the accounts to be opened at Takasbank. Collateral deposited by the members to the collateral accounts associated with the multiple position accounts by Takasbank shall be deemed to belong to the Member.

Segregation

ARTICLE 22 - (1) In the Market, the customer transactions, positions and collateral are monitored in the multiple or single trading and position accounts opened and linked to the Member and in the margin accounts associated with these accounts, in a separate manner from the Member's own transactions, positions and collateral.

(2) Positions and collateral of the member's own portfolio are monitored in a position account to be exclusively opened and in the margin account associated with this account.

Account migration

ARTICLE 23 - (1) Positions monitored in the position accounts and the collateral associated with these positions can be migrated by Takasbank between the CCP members upon instruction of the transferee and transferor CCP members, if deemed appropriate by Takasbank. In such a case, the transferor CCP member shall obtain the written consent of its customers whose positions and collateral are to be transferred.

(2) In order for the accounts in which the positions of several customers are held to be migrated, the instruction of all customers holding positions in these accounts shall be required. Collateral associated with the position accounts for which migrating instructions have been given by the customers shall be migrated by the instruction of the member.

(3) Takasbank's right to refuse the account migrating requests with respect to the soundness of clearing and settlement operations and the security of settlement shall be reserved.

(4) If the positions monitored in the accounts of any member whose membership activities have been restricted or whose membership has been terminated due to default or for other reasons are transferred together with the collateral associated with these positions to another member, the migrating transactions shall be conducted by Takasbank;

- a) If any pre-designation for the transferee member has been made in the agreement signed between the transferor Member and Takasbank; in accordance with the provisions stipulated in the agreement.
- b) If, although no pre-designation regarding the transferee member has been made in the agreement signed between transferor Member and Takasbank, the transferor member makes an agreement with the transferee member until the date on which the migrating will be made; in accordance with the provisions stipulated in that agreement.
- c) If no designation has been made in line with the provisions of the item (a) and (b) of this paragraph, to the extent that Takasbank achieves to find a transferee Member.

(5) Should the account migrating operation be made, the collateral held in the transferred accounts cannot be withdrawn until the reconciliation is achieved between the records of Takasbank and those at the member whose activities have been restricted or whose membership has been terminated. Provisions regarding any proceeding pursued by the administrative and judicial authorities shall be reserved.

(6) Accounts failed to be migrated due to unable to find a member to take over the positions and collateral, or unavailability of sufficient time to do so or because of margin deficit, or those having any margin deficit after the liquidation of positions may be made subject to liquidation in accordance with the principles of Chapter Five of the Central Counterparty Regulation. the Board has given permission for non-provision of CCP service, then Takasbank may not provide migration service for the positions related to such positions.

CHAPTER FIVE

Risk Management and Collateralization Principles

Risk management

ARTICLE 24 - (1) The risk management in the Market is performed by Takasbank.

(2) Transactions conducted in the market by the member on its behalf are monitored under the “Member” account, whereas the transactions conducted by them on behalf of their customers are monitored under the customer omnibus account. Risk management for the trade margins is carried out over these 2 accounts/risk groups.

(3) The margin requirement of each account is calculated in a separate manner and the collateral adequacy of each position account is controlled separately.

(4) In the market, pre-trade, at-trade and post-trade risk management processes are applied. Takasbank receives the opinion of the Exchange in pre-trade risk management processes.

Pre-trade risk management

ARTICLE 25 - (1) Order transmission cannot be made over the accounts which have no trading limit in the Market.

(2) The trading limit shall be determined by Takasbank by taking the rating note and equity level of the member into account.

(3) In the trading limit control conducted as part of the pre-trade risk management calculations, net amounts are taken into account on the basis of contract type.

Initial margin, at-trade and post-trade risk management

ARTICLE 26 - (1) In the BIAS Swap Market, the first risk calculation on the value date of the transaction shall be made at the end of the day.

(2) The initial margin shall be collected to remove the impact of any change occurred in the exchange rates and the precious metal price during the period to be elapsed until the resolution of the default arising in the event the member fails to fulfill its obligations within the time periods set forth in the procedure.

(3) The initial margin shall be calculated by Takasbank by using a minimum of 1 year data set and a minimum of 99,00% confidence level and revised once a month by also considering the market conditions. If deemed necessary, Takasbank may revise the initial margin in accordance with the market conditions without waiting for the one month’ period to expire. The parameters designated for the initial margin shall be announced via a general letter.

(4) The initial margin could be differentiated on the basis of the maturity of the transaction, counterparties to trade, precious metal and the currency. If initial margin is not differentiated on the basis of the maturity of the transaction, the daily depreciation implied by the transaction is added to the initial margin obligation of the member who borrow in the asset subject to the depreciation at the end of day risk calculations. Offsetting positions to be taken in different gold or currency swap transactions can be subjected to correlation within themselves.

(5) As part of the post-trade risk management process, Takasbank shall update the risk amounts of the positions and related collateral accounts at 11:00, at 13:00 and at 15:00. By the conducted intraday valuation operation, the deficit/surplus amount demonstrating the difference between the required margin amount for the accounts and the valued collateral amount shall be identified. The last 10 minutes average of the Interbank spot market buy/sell average exchange rate shall be used at the valuation time. For the precious metal price, the average of the spot market buying/selling average price in the last 10 minutes shall be used.

(6) The amount of collateral surplus in an account also represents the withdrawable collateral amount for that account. For the members having an intra-day temporary variation margin obligation as a result of the valuation, their such obligation shall be deducted from their withdrawable collateral.

(7) In addition to the routinely-performed end-of-day collateral adequacy controls, an intra-day margin call may also be issued to the accounts which have any collateral inadequacy. In the end-of-day risk calculations, the contracts to expire the next business day may be excluded from the initial margin calculation. The members to whom a margin call is issued during the day are obliged to make available the sufficient collateral balance at their margin accounts within two hours. The default provisions shall be applied for the members failing to fulfill their collateral obligation until the designated time.

(8) Margin calls are issued through the members screens provided by Takasbank, via reporting or electronic mail. Should the margin call be issued through the system, the member shall be deemed to have received the call without the need for any further warning or notice. The responsibility of the member starts at the moment the call made by Takasbank is received by the member.

(9) The instant settlement positions in the accounts opened by the members at Takasbank and their guarantee fund contributions and collateral shall be made subject to the updating operation by Takasbank.

(10) In calculating the margin requirement, no netting shall be made between the positions of the different risk groups, currency/currency and precious metal/currency pairs.

Variation margin and funding cost calculations

ARTICLE 27 - (1) The variation margin generated by the positions opened during the first value date shall be determined by taking account of the difference between the exchange rate/precious metal price at the transaction and the exchange rate at the end of the day. In calculating the variation margin of the positions opened before the calculation date, the end-of-day exchange rate/price of the previous day and the end-of-day exchange rate/price of the relevant day shall be compared.

(2) The variation margin amount being calculated on the basis of each contract pursuant to the first paragraph shall be netted on a currency/precious metal basis. The funding cost, if any, and variation margin refund related to contacts at maturity, if any, shall be added to or deducted from such amount.

(3) The variation margin balance subject to the funding cost shall be calculated on a contract basis over the cumulative net balance of the variation margin.

(4) The amount of funding cost shall be calculated over the weighted average overnight interest rate formed for the relevant day in BIAS Debt Securities Market, Normal Orders Market in Repo- Reverse Repo Market and calculated by using the following formula: $F = ((\text{Cumulative Net Variation Margin Balance} * \text{Overnight Interest}) / 360)$

(5) The party's cumulative net positive balance from the variation margin amounts that have transferred throughout the term of each transaction shall be part of netting between daily variation margin and funding costs.

Risk Limits

ARTICLE 28 - (1) Takasbank defines risk limits to the Members based on their financial capability. Risk limits can be determined separately for the Market but can also be determined in total for all markets. Risk limits are determined over the collateral amounts required to be held due to the positions carried by the Members in the markets to which CCP service is provided and announced as notional amounts to the members.

- (2) The limit determined on a member basis is notified by Takasbank only to the relevant member.
- (3) Whether or not the member's total required margin resulting from all positions it has taken for itself and its customers exceeds its risk limit is also checked during the day.
- (4) It is essential that the member cannot submit a new order in the event that a transaction exceeds the risk limit. In this case, pending orders can be canceled. The responsibility thereof shall belong to the member.

CHAPTER SIX

The responsibility for monitoring shall belong to the member.
